

Southeast Asian cuisine uses vibrant, fresh ingredients to create bold flavors. Spice is generally a recurring theme throughout the region and many of the dishes embrace traditional chillies creating fire while some have no spice at all focusing on freshness and texture. Either way, they all want wines from cooler growing climates with tangy, juicy fruit and refreshing acidity that keep you coming back for more.

Reds follow the same rule as whites so the list is driven to softer, fruitier reds that caress the palate. We have a balance of old world showing earthiness, structure and elegance and new world that are bigger, more opulent and lush.

SILKY & SENSUAL

Pinot Noir is the most feminine of all red grapes and has been called “a seductive, fickle mistress”. It is arguably the most difficult varietal in both the vineyard and winery but when you give her the love and nurturing she needs, breathtaking wine is produced.
